

Economy Vs. Free Energy

These are just a few sentences about this topic, cause it is just that simple...

Why don't they build up thermic solar powerplants in all desert areas? This is a great solution to produce electricity and power itself. All you need are mirrors, water and an electric generator. To store the power you can use hydrooxygen, made by electrolysis. Now you have a gas for heating and electricity to use for everything in a natural way without any pollution and as long the sun is shining.

But there is now one problem for economy. Mirrors can be build up once without any further need to replace them. So economy does not have to produce more as once needed. There is definitely no need to pollute the world just for getting energy... In Island they use geothermic water for heating all their houses, so this is really possible to use this free energy on earth!!

The problem is when energy is unlimited and there is no big effort to produce it, the price will go down and there is no possibility to rase the price how it is done in fossil dirty energy sources. Oil has poisoned earth and nuclear power does exactly the same,

Photovoltaic elements have to be replaced and a huge part of economy stands behind. This does not mean that these cells are bad, they use free energy too but it is a bigger effort to produce them.

That is one of the badest lie on mankind that energy is something limited. As long there is a sun and oceans, it isn't!!

Surely there are many ways to use free energy but the most important thing is that this is real and just blocked for making more and more profit by destroying earth((.....

They create laws and guidelines to explain and lie to you that it is impossible to shut down these other dirty powerplants!?!?

First they make you get addicted to technology and mobility which deserves more and more energy, than they tell you there's no other way to produce this dirty energy by killing our nature as we know her.....

Witch system has a right to build up a valuesystem based on less than dezimal numbers which were just invented to rule and to create a very profitable slavery of mankind..... I know in some way there has to be a defined measurement system to create and develope new things, but to use this as a valuesystem to define, analize and contolle human individuals is a crime:(((Humans are reduced to a collection of f Numbers!!!
